Professor: David Conn, d.conn@tcu.edu

Dates: June 28 – July 24, 2010

Program Description: 40970 Directed Study in Art

Students in this course will study drawing, collage, painting, sculpture or printmaking at the prestigious European Academy of Fine Art in Trier, Germany. Insights into the art and art history of Germany, France, Belgium and Luxembourg will also be part of this course.

Walking and bike tours of Paris, Luxembourg, Trier, Metz and Cologne will focus on the architecture, museums, and cultural histories of Europe. Visits to Roman ruins in the city of Trier add an historic perspective to the cultural nuances of that region.

Students acclimate quickly to the cultural centers by using trains, the metro system and an excursion by boat and bike from home-bases in Paris, France and Trier, Germany. We will stay in the Latin Quarter of Paris at the Hotel Des Arenes and the centrally located Wars Berger Hof in Trier. Throughout their time, students will experience vibrant and varied lifestyles and culinary adventures. Students will be challenged by the experience, working with faculty who hail from France, Italy, Scotland, Spain, England and Germany, as they approach their own artistic development with new eyes and appreciation of how the past contributes to their present.
